

Hannegan Uncertain On Future

Awaits Doctor's Word Before Announcing What He'll Do About Party Leadership

Truman to Choose President Leans Toward Anderson as Chief of Democrats

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Aug. 27 (AP)—Postmaster General Hannegan said today he probably will decide in the next two weeks whether to resign as chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Hannegan told a reporter his blood pressure is now normal and he wants to keep it that way. He thus indicated that if his doctors say he should slow down he will give up the more strenuous of his two posts—the party chairmanship.

The decision is expected to be announced well in advance of the national committee meeting which Hannegan said he will call for some time in October to pick a date and site for the 1948 national convention.

While the committee selects its own chairman, President Truman actually will do the choosing for the committee's ratification in the event Hannegan decides to step down.

The President is said to favor Secretary of Agriculture Anderson for the job of directing the 1948 presidential campaign for the Democrats, but some party officers said today they believe the Anderson boom is cooling off.

While associates of Anderson say his health might not permit his taking on such an active party role, the late boom reports that the agriculture secretary may want to run for the Senate from New Mexico or may have vice-presidential ambitions.

Senator Hatch (D-N.M.), who comes up for reelection next year, has been an indication that he will not seek another term and some Democratic senators say the President probably will want Hatch to stay in the Senate.

Hatch told a reporter yesterday he is confident Anderson will take the party chairmanship if he is asked.

Hannegan visited party headquarters late yesterday for the first time in many months. He began taking treatment for "high blood pressure" last December, underwent an operation in March, and has been resting in Florida, California and Hawaii since. He had several talks with Anderson while in Hawaii.

Injured by Car, Then Pays Intoxication Fine

Joseph L. Myers, 40, of 3325 Perry avenue, Bronx, was arrested at Saugerties last night by Corporal Joseph Viskocil and Trooper 11 R. Rasmussen of the Lake Katrine State Police Barracks on a charge of public intoxication. He was detained in the county jail overnight pending a hearing this morning before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers, Saugerties, when he was fined $10. He paid the fine.

Myers, the police said, was lightly struck by an automobile on Route 9-W last night, near Schoenberger's Hotel, suffering minor cuts and abrasions. He was treated by Dr. Lester A. Sonking, Saugerties, after which he was taken to the jail.

Myers stepped in front of a car operated by Rolf Lamborn, Jackson Heights, N. Y., and was knocked down. Lamborn was not held by the police.

Career Came First

Los Angeles, Aug. 27 (AP)—Actor Jack Merivale, testifying that his wife, Jane Sterling, stage actress, "placed" her name above "merivale," obtained a divorce yesterday. He said she left him in 1934, three years after they were married in Boston. He is a son of the late Philip Merivale, actor.

New Yorkers' Car Crashes Embankment as It Spins on Road

Charles Zarem, 56, of 59 West 46th street, New York city, was injured Tuesday afternoon when his car skidded on the wet pavement about a mile west of Kingston on Route 28 and crashed into a stone embankment along the road.

He was taken to the Kingston Hospital by the Conner ambulance for treatment of a lacerated left arm, contusions of the head and abrasions of the body.

His wife, Pauline, 46, who was riding in the front seat was thrown back to the rear seat and suffered contusions of the body. State Trooper Ray Dunn said the driver reported he lost control of the car when it went into a skid.

Candidates for National Commander of Legion

Coxsackie, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Officials were watching today to see if a DDT "fog" sprayer over this Greene county village of 2,300 would check an outbreak of poliomyelitis.

While the committee selects its own chairman, President Truman actually will do the choosing for the committee's ratification in the event Hannegan decides to step down.

Dr. Elwood Welsburn, acting village health officer, said he was not convinced the DDT spray would check the disease but added that it "certainly will do no harm."

The insecticide was pumped under high pressure from a specially-equipped jeep driven through the streets.

Welsburn, who said three polio cases developed here last Friday and three had been reported previously in neighboring areas, expressed the opinion that "the situation has reached the epidemic stage."

Meanwhile, the state health department said there was a seasonal rise in the disease, but the total number of cases so far this year is below that for the same period in 1946. A total of 182 were listed through August 18, against 212 in 1946, the department reported.

Father Raymond Hyland Now at Saugerties

The Rev. Raymond A. Hyland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hyland of 155 Broadway, who offered his first Mass in Kingston last March, is now assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, Saugerties.

Father Hyland, who was ordained in St. Patrick's Cathedral last March 1, sang his first solemn Mass in St. Mary's Kingston, his home parish, March 2. He received his elementary education and was graduated from St. Mary's parochial school.

An assistant to the Rev. Edmund T. Hartly in Saugerties, Father Hyland, formerly stationed in West Brighton, S. I., replaces the Rev. Francis J. O'Neill, who was transferred to St. Paul's Church, East 17th street, New York.

Undersheriff Winne, Others Plan Dodger Night Sept. 4th

An "Appreciation Night" for members of the Kingston Dodger baseball club of the North Atlantic League will be sponsored by a group of loyal supporters on Thursday, September 4, it was announced today.

Heading the committee in charge of the program is Stanley Winne, undersheriff of Ulster county, and one of the Dodgers' most ardent boosters.

Others serving on the committee will be Warren Smith, president of the City Baseball League; Moe Solomon, Morrell Peck, Herb Myers, former baseball manager; Addison Jones, a member of the Dodgers' honorary Board of Directors; Bob Murray and Nick Kuslich, of the former Recreation baseball committee; Jimmy Martin, one-time southpaw pitcher, star and Alderman Vic Roth.

Through the medium of individual donations and a collection to be taken on Wednesday, September 3, it is expected that a substantial purse will be raised for the Dodger players. Fans who contribute to the "Appreciation" fund will receive a suitable button or tag to be worn on "Appreciation Night."

In announcing plans for the program, Stan Winne said it was a spontaneous movement among several ardent rooters of the Dodgers who have become familiarly known as "the third base

State Predicts Record for Births Increase Is 50,000 Over Last Year for First Six Months

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—Reporting an unprecedented two-to-one margin of births over deaths for the first six months of this year, the State Health Department predicted today that births in 1947 would establish an all-time record.

At the same time the department said the state's mortality record was "unusually favorable."

Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe announced that births during the first six months totaled 169,000, an increase of 50,000 over the same period of record-breaking 1946 when 287,000 babies were born. The two to one ratio of births over the 81,000 deaths was described as "without precedent in the history of the department."

Hilleboe, citing a state birth rate that has been rising annually since before World War 2, said "it can be reasonably expected that when the present year ends the population of the state will have increased by more than 300,000 babies."

The department said mortality rates for the first six months showed:

A new low in infant deaths, 29 per thousand live births.

Maternal mortality, nine deaths per 10,000 live and still births, down nearly 50 per cent from three years ago.

New lows in death rates from tuberculosis, 39.4 per 100,000 population; syphilis, 9.8; and appendicitis, 3.1.

Gravely ill "low" mortality rates from influenza, 2.2; and pneumonia, 4.4.

Little change in cancer mortality; a slight increase in heart disease deaths.

A new high in the diabetes mortality rate, 43.8.

A 10 per cent drop from last year in the automobile fatality rate, 11.8.

Slight increases in the suicide rate, 11.8, and homicide, 3.1.

Seasonable Weather Prevails Over Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Near normal weather, with seasonable temperatures, prevailed over most of the country today.

The cool air, which broke the midwest's protracted heat wave Monday, pushed into the North Atlantic States yesterday, ending three days of hot weather.

Thunder showers preceded the mass of cool air into the eastern states. An electrical rain and hail storm struck New York city and a score of persons were injured. Basements were flooded, telephone service interrupted and subway service disrupted. The fall measured 3.44 inches and temperature dropped from a record 91 for the date to 67 in less than two hours.

About 20 persons were injured in a rush by passengers to flee two street cars which were struck by lightning. A dozen bolts struck the Empire State Building; but there was no damage.

Federal forecasters in Chicago said there was no indication of an immediate return of excessive heat to the midwest or eastern states.

Removal of Restrictions on Materials Spurs Renovation Work on Stores

With building restrictions which were in effect during the war years removed several improvements to business properties in the uptown shopping center are now in progress. In addition to the alterations of stores which have been completed within the past few weeks, major improvements are now going on in several localities.

Among the major improvements are those being made to the Fein building at 295-Wall street where Dixon's recently vacated. The two stores are being modernized and will be made into one large store which will be occupied by Scott's, Inc., a women's apparel concern which now operates stores in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Schoenectady. The building is owned by David Fein of Poughkeepsie and Ben Fein of Saugerties. When the improvements are completed Scott's, Inc., will open a Kingston store with Joseph Fein, son of David Fein, as manager.

Alterations are also being made to the store at 316 Wall street, owned by David Fruchter, formerly of Newburgh, and which had been rented by the New York Realty Corporation, Inc., to the Left Candy Company which will open a Kingston store as soon as the work is completed. The store was formerly occupied by the Mayfair Shop which is now located at the corner of Broadway and Dows street.

S. Gold, proprietor of Gold's women's apparel store at 322 Wall street, is engaged in making extensive alterations to the interior of the store and a new modern front is being placed.

Improvements to the Herzog building on North Front street and Fair street extension are also progressing. The exterior of the building is being brick faced and the show rooms are being enlarged and modernized.

Witwyck Motors, agents for DeSoto and Plymouth cars, at 112-118 North Front street, have erected a new building on that site which includes a large show room and a modern garage and service station. This building is one of the most modern type garage and show rooms in the city of Kingston.

With a new pavement on North Front street several other merchants along the street are now making plans for alterations and improvements to their business places.

19 Republics Are In Agreement on Hemisphere Plan

President Truman Awaited for Conference in Brazil to Talk Over Defense

By PHILIP CLARKE

Quitandinha, Brazil, Aug. 27 (AP)—Brazilian authorities wished plans today for the formal signing next Tuesday in Rio de Janeiro's glittering Itamaraty Palace of an historic defense treaty under which 19 American republics agree to fight jointly against any aggression in the western hemisphere.

These authorities confidently expected that President Truman would advance the date of his scheduled visit to Brazil in order to be present for the occasion in the home of the Brazilian foreign ministry and made arrangements for a whopping welcome.

A high Brazilian government source said the inter-American conference of foreign ministers at this resort was expected to wind up next Monday and that although the U. S. President's visit had been scheduled for September 5, he was expected to revise his plans so as to be able to address the closing session.

President Truman also is expected to be a guest of honor at Brazil's independence day celebration September 7 and head for home the next day aboard the battleship Missouri.

Conference committees yesterday approved more than two-thirds of the body of the projected defense treaty, which calls for swift military action to head off aggression in a vast "security region" stretching from the Antarctic to the Arctic and from Hawaii to the Falklands.

To Create Joint System

Creation of a joint military mechanism will be undertaken at Bogota next January, when the American Republics meet again to broaden and strengthen the inter-American system of peace cooperation.

The conference called for repeal of the Condon-Wadlin state law which prohibits strikes by public employees.

The resolution approved by the conference was presented by Joseph F. Flynn, chairman of the resolutions committee, who declared police are opposed "to the principle of this bill because it takes away from civil employees rights which workers in outside industries possess."

There is "no thought on the part of any policeman of ever striking," Flynn said.

The conference also approved resolutions asking for police outside of New York city a five-day week; a minimum permanent base pay of $3,000 for first grade patrolmen; 21 working days' vacation period; and optional 20-year retirement on reduced pensions.

Early Legionnaires Enliven N.Y. With Convention Pranks

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—American Legionnaires by the thousands moved on New York today while their leaders, busy as mess sergeants just beforechow time, sought to shape up the serious matters that will be laid before the 29th convention opening tomorrow afternoon.

State delegations began to hold caucuses to decide which way to throw their votes for national commander, and standing committees continued work on resolutions to go before the convention, which continues through Sunday. Some of the committee sessions, particularly that on housing, developed lively discussions yesterday.

Cut-ups Start

Early arrivals not concerned with these matters were reminding New York, host to the legion 10 years ago, what to expect when things get rolling. One group squirted water pistols at girl passersby; another evoked startled screams, using the same targets, with a can that delivered an electric shock.

Keresman Report On Cops' Economic Standard Adopted

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 7 (AP)—The convention of the New York State Police Conference is on record today as urging a statewide campaign to raise the economic standard of policemen.

The 400 delegates approved yesterday a report submitted by Peter Keresman of Kingston, conference secretary, urging the cause, leading to misunderstanding on the part of the public.

The U. S. Conference of Mayors, the report said, "with its well established publicity machines often misrepresents our cause, thus leading to misunderstanding on the part of the public."

Police and other public employees have been hit especially by high federal taxes, Keresman said, "for their salaries were fixed at a low level when, and because, such salaries were then (1939) exempt from federal taxes."

"Policemen have fewer 'spendable' dollars and have been forced to reduce their purchases and lower their standard of living," he declared.

Adoption of a state law making it mandatory for municipalities to permit policemen to retire on full pension after 25 years service was urged by Harry Warren of Rochester, conference president. He said 46 municipalities now have such laws.

The conference called for repeal of the Condon-Wadlin state law which prohibits strikes by public employees.

To Aid Public

The Legion's service committee announced that 1,600 local members would serve as special officers, not to suppress "antics," but to step in if funerals are "seriously inconvenient to the public."

City police soberly were instructed: "When a Legionnaire comes into a police station due to being unable to care for himself, the desk officer will immediately communicate with America's Legion service committee headquarters."

This system worked in 1937; no Legionnaires were arrested, the committee said.

The Legion's national defense committee was told by Rep. Harry I. Towse (R-N.J.) that "considerable opposition" could be expected for his bill in Congress to provide a six-month basic training period for all American youths.

Kingston Escapes Damages During Cooling Rainstorm

New York City Area Is Tied Up in Various Public Services; Mercury Drops

Although New York city was the target of a heavy downpour of rain Tuesday which included a hailstorm, Kingston and Ulster county were free from any damage according to both the New York Telephone Company and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

Negative reports of damage as a result of the storm were reported by both companies to The Freeman this morning.

A heavy rainfall was reported in Napanoch but a similar report of no damage was given, a check-up revealed today.

The rainfall which broke the heat wave in Kingston and surrounding areas, as well as in other parts of the country, dropped the temperature from a high of 87 degrees down to a low of 57 degrees at 6 o'clock this morning, the city engineer's office reported.

Subways Are Disrupted

In New York city the transportation board said Tuesday's tie-up as a result of the storm was the worst in history. The Associated Press reported this morning: "The jam-ups at the home going rush hour and service generally was not restored until after midnight. Even then, four stations of a Queens-Brooklyn line remained flooded."

The Weather Bureau in New York reported 3.44 inches of rain fell. The Battery, most of it in the first two hours of the storm. At 3:55 p. m. the mercury stood at 91 degrees, a record for August 26, but at 5:40 the rain had brought it down to 67 degrees.

Lightning struck two street cars causing the passengers to flee them in near-panic, and about 20 persons were injured in the rush home seriously. One boy suffered minor burns from one of the bolts; another boy was "injured on a street when lightning struck the pavement near him."

A dozen bolts struck the Empire State Building, without damage, but another bolt struck the 30-story Lincoln Hotel showered fragments of a cornice to the sidewalk. A large piece of the cornice was loosened, and an emergency squad was sent to the roof to secure it for later removal.

Approximately 2,000 telephones were out of service temporarily. Shifting winds sent a small plane plummeting into the Hudson river. Louis A. Promuto, 42, of 1803 Millard avenue, the Bronx, climbed out uninjured and was taken from the water by a launch. The plane was towed to a seaplane base.

Need Faith in America

O'Mahoney concluded that "if businessmen have faith in America and in their own capacity to produce, the nation will see that net profits for the first half of this year for 402 companies are 97.9 per cent larger than the first six months of 1946."

A Commerce Department study showing that per capita income in 1946 "reached an unprecedented peak of $3,200."

Can't Continue to Pay

"This means that the great mass of American consumers simply cannot continue to pay these high prices," he said. "Soon he will see inventories piled up, then a shut-down in production and finally a serious deflation."

Sensor Hatch (N.M.) said that "as a practical man I know that when we have a condition of unrestrained and uncontrolled excessively high prices, the crash comes sooner or later."

Downey and Hatch said there is little Congress can do in the form of legislation to aid the situation.

Hatch said he believes the only possible remedy is for "business and labor and the public to unite to fight inflation as vigorously as they did to win the war."

That, he added, "would mean Continued on Page Seven

Many Ride on Special Trips to Fair at Rhinebeck

No figures were available at the office of the New York State Bridge Authority regarding traffic over the Rhinecliff-Kingston ferry, which is running special late trips to accommodate Dutchess County Fair visitor, but ferry employees said traffic was "good."

Artists Will Hold First Conference; Plan Costume Ball

Woodstock, Aug. 27—The Artist and His World will be the theme of the first Woodstock art conference being held on Friday and Saturday from 2:30 to 6 in the afternoon.

Arnold Blanch will be chairman of the Friday session. The subjects for this session are:

What About the Artist? by Yasuo Kuniyoshi, painter.
The Sculptor's Relationship to the Museum Dealer and Public by David Smith, sculptor.
The Function of the Museum in Our Society by Juliana F. Force, director, Whitney Museum.

Is the Dealer an Influence? by a dealer to be announced.

The Interrelationship of the Arts by Harold Clurman, writer-director.

Fletcher Martin will be chairman of the Saturday session when the subjects to be discussed will be:

What the Layman Thinks of Art and Artists by Heywood Hale Brown, newspaperman.

A Collector's Point of View by Milton Lowenthal, collector.

What Is the Critic's Place? by Howard Devree, critic, New York Times.

What Equity Will Mean to the Artist by Hudson Walker, director of Artists Equity.

Summation by Mitchell Siporin, artist.

Will Hold Costume Ball.

A costume ball will be held on Saturday evening as a grand finale to this first art conference, which will be held at the Art Students League, Woodstock. The tickets for the ball are on sale at the Art Gallery or may be purchased through a member of the Woodstock Artists Association.

The sale of tickets will be restricted to members of the Woodstock Artists Association and their friends. The festivities will begin at 9 o'clock.

Admission to the art conference, however, is not so restricted as the costume ball. Any interested person may purchase tickets for the two day conference which is also being held at the Art Students League.

The heads of committees for this very special event include Yasuo Kuniyoshi, General Chairman, Doris Lee, Arnold Blanch, Fletcher Martin, Herman Cherry, Jenny Magafan, Denny Winters, and Carl Fortess.

Marsh McLeod Buys Panajachel by West

Woodstock, Aug. 27—Clifford B. West's Guatemalan landscape, Panajachel exhibited in the current show at the Woodstock Art Gallery, has been purchased by Marsh McLeod, a summer favorite at the Woodstock Playhouse.

Miss McLeod left Woodstock on Tuesday morning bound for her home in Milzoula, Montana, where she plans to be married in the near future. Having seen a reproduction of Mr. West's painting in The Freeman last week, Marsh became interested in owning it and made her decision as soon as she saw it hanging in the gallery.

The work of Miss McLeod in numerous productions at the Woodstock Playhouse this summer has received high praise and many have expressed the hope that she will be seen again in Woodstock next season.

Mrs. Sara C. Dillon Is Feted on 81st Birthday

Woodstock, Aug. 27—Many friends congratulated Mrs. Sara Costello Dillon on her 81st birthday during a garden party given by her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Grant, at their home in Woodstock on Sunday afternoon.

Those present for this festive occasion included the Rev. Philip J. Nolan, the Rev. Austin V. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McTeague, Mr. and Mrs. Engelbert Roentgen, Mr. and Mrs. Henri Dardenne, Salvatore Stefano, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Feyce, Miss William Y. Boyd, Mrs. N. Endslee, Miss Maryquillo Graham, Miss Regina M. Ford, Miss K. Lowe, Mrs. Helen Burdette, Mrs. Clara Chichester, Mr. and Mrs. Massina, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Garrison, Mrs. Toni Drake, Mrs. Bobby Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Parker, Mrs. Robert Pepper, Mr. and Mrs. Ives, Miss Mercy Ann Hillman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lynch, Miss Marion Bullard, Miss Eva Beard, Mrs. William Barclay, Mrs. Joseph Cosgrove and Miss Amylita Peygrove, accompanied by her nephew Gustav, entertained with many interesting selections.

The husband who was more useful as a home maker than a wage earner, Don McHenry gave a grand performance.

Frances Whitaker, the wife, and mother, was played by Paula Trueman, a new comer to Woodstock. Miss Trueman's portrayal showed a fine understanding of the problems besetting the career woman. She was splendid.

Attractive young Nancy Chase was the typical spoiled daughter who was always ready to go home to mother on the slightest provocation. As Kitty Mitchell, Nancy showed considerable understanding for the role she portrayed.

Aileen Cramer, naturally humorous, was extremely funny in the part of the maid. The characterization of elderly Dr. Bartell resurrected to help out in the war emergency, was one of the most amusing bits in the play. In his portrayal Roland Hauge's pantomiming brought many roars of laughter from the audience.

Cort Steen was very cocksure in his role of the bumptious husband, Eugene Mitchell. Others who gave fine performances in the supporting roles of this fast moving comedy were Araby Lockhart, Michael Sivy, Bea Goldberg, Lucia Collarte, Murray Davis, Champion King, Jack Howlett, and Henry Kaplan.

The entire action of the play takes place in the living room of Sam and Frances Whitaker's apartment in upper Manhattan. The play was staged by Gerald Savory and the set designed by E. A. Heschong.

Earlier Farewell

A farewell party for the Aloha Serenaders Hawaiian Band, currently playing at the Mirror Lake Lodge, which was originally scheduled for Tuesday evening, September 2, has been moved up to Monday evening, September 1, the management of the lodge announced today.

Optical microscopes can magnify up to about 2,000 diameters.

The play is a fast moving farce in which everyone can find many situations, experienced at one time or another in their own family lives.

Frances Badier as Irma Dallymple, the maiden aunt has completely captured the spirit of the play and had the audience in an uproar most of the time.

Veterans May Draw Subsistence for 12 Months in School

Veterans in colleges and universities may receive subsistence checks on a 12-month basis, provided they attend fall, spring and summer semesters, according to a new ruling recently announced by Edward O'Dell, contact representative at the local office of the Veterans Administration.

The move is made possible by an administrative decision to continue veterans in training status for 15 days at the close of each semester. This will enable a veteran to draw subsistence payments the year round, if less than 15 days elapse between school semesters, and the college notifies V.A. that the veteran is enrolled for the entire three-semester period.

Subsistence checks for this period will be mailed automatically to the veteran, unless V.A. is notified otherwise. Notice to stop subsistence payments will have to be made by the veteran 30 days prior to the close of the semester. According to Mr. O'Dell, the new procedure will cut down excessive paper work in education and finance units of the V.A. since it allows veterans to remain on the payroll for their entire training period.

Under the old system veterans were withdrawn from subsistence rolls at the close of each semester, and reinstated upon return to school.

The automatic 15-day subsistence payments are based on the veterans' rights to accumulate 30 days of annual leave. Formerly, veterans were required to notify V.A. before being placed on annual leave status. Now, they will start to draw annual leave payments automatically, unless they request subsistence payments discontinued. Educational entitlement time will be used during the 15-day period.

The new ruling on subsistence payments, the V.A. official pointed out, applies only to veterans in college and universities. It does not apply to veterans in trade school or on-the-job training.

Final Wages Hearing

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 27 (AP)—State Industrial Commissioner Edward Corsi has ordered a final hearing in Albany September 12 preliminary to promulgating a new order increasing minimum wage rates of 57 1/2 cents an hour for 30,000 cleaning and dyeing and confectionary workers. The cleaning and dyeing board recommended a $17.25 weekly minimum for full-time employees and 86 cents an hour after 40 hours a week. Proposals of the confectionary board include a weekly minimum of $23 and time and a half pay for work in excess of 40 hours a week.

Mrs. Farrell Released

New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Farrell, 23-year-old attractive brunette wife of Gerald Farrell, sought by police in connection with several Westchester county burglaries, was released from custody by Bronx police authorities after the Bronx county grand jury refused yesterday to indict her on Sullivan Law charges.

Captain Vincent M. Cahill, son of James R. Cahill, 23 West O'Reilly street, has arrived overseas and has been assigned to the 20th Weather Squadron with headquarters at Nogoya, Japan. The unit is part of the 43 Weather Wing and provides for the occupation forces of Japan and Korea.

Prior to entering his new unit, Captain Cahill was a member of the weather station at Lawson Field, Ft. Benning, Ga.

Captain Cahill is a licensed pilot and was teaching higher mathematics at Siena College, Loudenville, from which institution he graduated last June.

His wife and two children reside at 1209 Seventh avenue, Watervliet.

William Fredenburgh, aviation machinist's mate, first class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Fredenburgh of this city, was graduated last week from the navy technical school for target aircraft at Santa Ana, Calif. He is spending a 12-day leave with friends of the family on the West Coast. Mr. Fredenburgh enlisted in the navy in February 1944.

After his boot training at Sampson he spent three years at Sauley Field, Pensacola, Fla., where he studied in Class A for his rating. In April this year he was sent to Guam but was returned with another selected man for the technical training at Santa Ana. Lucy J. Smith, technician fifth grade, daughter of Mrs. Nina D. Smith, 87 TenBroeck avenue, is home on terminal leave from Fort Jackson, S. C., awaiting her discharge from the Women's Army Corps in September. Corporal Smith has served training and attended medical technician's school at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. She plans to attend business school following her discharge. Arthur B. Wilson, seaman, second class, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson of Kingston, has been transferred to the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Boxer from the Naval Air Station, San Diego, Calif. The Boxer is serving with the Pacific Fleet as flagship of Carrier Division 5.

INSTEAD OF SENILITY

Obviously she was old, but her visitor was surprised to learn that she was 90. Never marrying, she has lived alone, "since Ma died", for 38 years there where she was born. It is a big farm which she still operates, with help to do the work, but under her management. She is slight and little, happy and alert. Her eyes permit her to read, to carry on her extensive correspondence by means of her typewriter and she hears as well as ever.

Since Ponce de Leon hunted the waters of eternal youth, man has puzzled over what makes old age a waiting-for-death negation for so many, and a satisfactory state for others. Asked the inevitable explanation of her success, this old lady answered simply that she had always had compelling interests. Since her father's death back in her young womanhood, she earned her living by farming, which she loves. She has taken a few modest trips, once an economical jaunt to Europe. But most of the time she has lived there beside the fields where she was born.

At 50 she decided farming was not enough and took up Esperanto, the international language. She studied it, has translated books and hymns into it, worked for its adoption by the world's nations. Today she is busy circulating petitions to have the UN recommend that it be taught in the schools of member countries.

It was her chance at outward thinking. It has widened her horizons beyond petty concerns of self, and is her recipe for being young at 90.

HORSELESS ARMY

One of the most romantic and picturesque units of the army has always been the cavalry. The beautiful, high-stepping horses with their erect and graceful riders have been the most applauded features of military parades. Their use, however, has for too long been confined to parades, horse shows and polo matches. The "noble six hundred," who rode into the jaws of death to be sacrificed along with their mounts, have become symbolic of an outmoded form of cavalry warfare. (Plenty of horses were used in the last war, but that is another story.)

The War Department, realizing that such horses as are left at West Point, about sixty-six in number, are used for recreational purposes only, has issued an order that they are to be auctioned off by the War Assets Administration. Mechanization has driven out the horses, who have taken part in the curriculum at the Academy since its opening in 1802.

It looks as though the horse's last stand in a position of usefulness is in the cow country of the West. Or shall we soon see the cowboy rounding up the cattle from the front seat of a jeep?

LIVING COSTS

If it is true that within fifteen months the cost of living in a characteristic group of American cities has risen more than 20 per cent, it is well for every citizen who wants to continue eating comfortably to give more attention to the situation.

It is important for everybody to know what is going on in this vital branch of American life, and how and why living has become so unavoidably costly to the average consumer, and what may be done toward producing a less expensive and more intelligent deal all round. There are times when winning an economic victory is as important, or at least as useful, as winning a military war.

Uncle Sam might some day be reduced to a harrowing position if thriftlessness became the rule in this country. It is a matter of plain decency to practice a reasonable thrift and share it with a world so much of which is now in real need. But for too many thousands of families there is not much choice. They are right up against it for rent and food, in almost as great difficulty in this day of inflation as if there were depression.

'These Days'

JUSTICE MUST BE DONE

When Edward Kennedy, Associated Press correspondent, was pilloried for making known to the world that the fighting war was at an end, the newspaper world failed to back him up as they should have done. On May 10, 1945, I wrote in this column:

"The function of an American reporter is to get the news and to report it. That Edward Kennedy did. The news he sent was legitimate and truthful. The news the AP received and issued to the American press of this country was legitimate and truthful. The only illegitimate and untruthful act was performed by whoever ordered the truth suppressed. This is one time when the battle against silly, stupid, official-bound idiocy ought to be fought to a finish."

That was not done. Instead the faces of army censors were saved and the impression was given that Kennedy had committed a crime. In fact, newspapermen attached to SHAEF attacked Kennedy for scooping them instead of supporting him for his courage, veracity and honest reporting.

On May 15, 1945, I wrote concerning this: "There can be only one excuse for suppression of news and that is the national security from a strictly military standpoint. All other forms of suppression are antagonistic to the American spirit and the Bill of Rights. The suppression of the truth, the whole truth, is the perpetuation of lies. . . . And no civilian or military official is paid a salary to engage in such suppression."

Now, "Editor and Publisher," the organ of the newspaper profession, under the title "Kennedy Cleared," states:

"It has taken two years for all the facts to come out about the German surrender story which Ed Kennedy flushed to the world from Paris. At that time he was censured by the Army, his fellow correspondents, and many editors here for breaking a confidence and interrupting the plans for a joint Allied announcement."

"Now we know that the 'joint Allied announcement' was just an excuse cooked up on the spot. Actually, SHAEF had authorized the German radio station at Flensburg to break the story while the 16 newsmen who saw the surrender ceremony were bottled up by censorship in Paris. The BBC re-broadcast the report. It was on its way around the world. Kennedy heard it and he told the chief censor that inasmuch as the news had been released he no longer felt bound by the pledge. It was stupid for the military to hold up the news since SHAEF had already released it."

"Had we been in Kennedy's position we are inclined to believe we would have attempted to do just as he did. Kennedy's name has been cleared and we believe that his story will go down in the books as one of the greatest journalistic feats in history."

To this, I say, Amen! But I feel that it is insufficient. The Army censorship and the Army public information services owe Kennedy an apology. Somebody should be punished for trying to perpetrate a lie.

The Army complains that enlistments are down. Even the enrollment at West Point is down—a sad occurrence, indeed. Yet, there has never been a time when the Army should be more popular, should have greater support, should be more the pride of the country.

It is a funny thing, but something happens to a man when he goes to Washington. Take a first-class advertising man who can merchandise shiny teeth, breakfast foods, anti-B. O. or anything. He him a desk in Washington and he goes Mander. He becomes a bureaucrat. The same thing happened to Army public relations. It went dead.

The best example was the Manhattan Project. That amazing job was the achievement of the Army under General Leslie Groves. But the Army let the credit go to a handful of scientists who never could and never did put the bomb together. Had the Army had any public relations sense this country would today recognize its achievements.

That Kennedy Incident, the Manhattan Project, the smearing of General Groves, the dirty deal meted out to General George Patton are only a few examples of stupid public relations. Who is at fault?

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

MOST GALL STONES ARE SILENT

It is known from examination of bodies after death that about 10 to 20 per cent of adults over the age of 30 have gallstones; women being affected about twice as often as men. Just how many of these individuals have signs or symptoms which, if they were carefully and purposely examined for stones, would lead to finding them, has never been investigated or reported. These are called "silent" gallstones because they cause no symptoms and the individual does not know he has them.

Dr. H. E. Robertson in "Gastroenterology" (stomach and intestines), reports the results of 1,327 autopsy studies of the gall bladder in persons over 20 made at Mayo Clinic during 1934 to 1943, and found that 497 men and 530 women had gallstones. Histories of these patients showed that in 627 (61 per cent) there apparently had been no suspicion of the presence of gallstones by themselves or by the attending physician. In the other 400 cases, 305 patients had undergone one or more operations for gallstones. In 80 the stones were found after death, and in 19 they had been discovered only by X-ray examination.

Relatives, questioned after the gallstones had been found, occasionally denied that the patient had ever shown any signs or uttered any complaints suggesting presence of gallstones. Occasionally, the patient had been told years before that he had gallstones but that symptoms did not demand nor call for operation. These patients simply had not suffered very severely or they would have sought operation for relief.

It must be admitted that some patients suffer with what appears to be gallstone colic, yet no stones are present and others suffer the pains of colic even after stones have been removed. The gall bladder can have spasms as with other organs. Generally speaking, about half the gallstone cases, for various reasons, remain unrecognized. If all gallstones which are accidentally discovered during life required operation for their removal, it would mean that an active survey of all adult individuals would have to be made by X-ray and other methods to find and remove the stones. Fortunately, because most gallstones are silent, cause no symptoms, operation for removal is necessary only after attacks of gallstone colic.

Liver and Gall Bladder

The liver does more different kinds of work than any other organ in the body. Anything that interferes with its work upsets all the body processes. The gall bladder can cause distressing symptoms. Send 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp to The Bell Syndicate, Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman and ask for booklet, "Liver and Gall Bladder." (Released by Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

The monthly average from January to June, 1947, was 347,525 pounds, compared with only 202,438 in October, 1946, the last month the old rates were in effect.

Looks Like a Tough Beat

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 26, Henry A. Wallace, Farvue Farm, North Salem, N. Y. Dear Wallace:

I have received from the New Republic, of which you are editor, a publicity handout about your farm, your chickens and your strawberries.

To tell with your farm, your chickens and your strawberries, Wallace. For two months I have been calling at your office and telephoning to ask you to declare whether you ever were a disciple or pupil of Nicholas Roerich, the leader of a mystical Oriental cult.

I know you had some relations with him, but I want to know you answer publicly whether you were a pupil or disciple or apostle. I have been trying to corner you to make you answer whether you wrote Roerich a lot of idiotic letters and whether you regarded him as your spiritual master.

As for a supernatural master of mankind as many of your associates in the cult did, including your intimate friend and official protégé in the New Deal government, Louis L. Horch, I want to pin you down as to whether you ever called Roerich your dear guru, meaning a teacher by whose selection, whether you ever referred to Franklin D. Roosevelt, variously, as the flaming one, the mediocre one and the wavering one, to Cordell Hull, the secretary of state in those days, as the sour one, to Mrs. Roerich as mother, to the British as the monkey, and to the Russians as the Tigers and signed yourself "Galahad" or "Galahad" or "G."

This much is absolutely established already, that Horch was overboard for Roerich as a spiritual master. He said so in his testimony involving money which he had invested in the big loss-rooms or lamasery on Riverside Drive, Sen. Robert F. Wagner hung out there now and again and Sol Bloom, who came on to be chairman of foreign affairs in the Lower House in Washington, was allotted living accommodations. These are only a few of many

New Dealers who messed around with your old friend, the oriental master-mind. Some of our gullibles may take Sol Bloom's word that he took no stock in Roerich's mystical pretensions, but I don't believe him. I don't believe him because your protégé, Louis Horch, also told me that his dish was culture and that he scoffed at the esoteric philosophy. He thought he had ditched me until I poked around in the court records and found where he admitted that he went for his spiritual business. How do I know Sol Bloom is telling me the truth?

I want to ask you, direct, if you ever said the protecting shield of the great ones had been helpful under trying conditions and if you did, to explain whom you meant by the great ones? Did you ever mention an awareness of the fragrance of another world, the real being, you must live in the outer world and make over your mind and body as fit instruments for the lord of justice? If so, what were you talking about, anyway?

And did you, like Louis Horch, whom you appointed to a succession of important, influential jobs in the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce, eventually snap out of a daze?

Wallace, you are nailed on most counts. You certainly did mess around with old Roerich at the loss-house. You were seen there. You did fall for Horch and appoint him to all those jobs and Horch is on record with a confession that he and others were held in a thrall by Roerich. Sol Bloom says the Old Guru was a sort of oriental evil-eye PINKIE. Sol knew just this much about hypnotism, learned as a carnival showman more than 50 years ago, that it was a good idea never to let a hypnotist look you in the eye. Therefore he never let Roerich draw a bead on him. A hypnotist might make a fellow take off his pants in public without knowing a thing about it. They used to do it at the street fairs. Did Roerich ever give you the hocus focus?

Old Charlie Michelson, the press-agent of the Democratic party, wrote that the Goofy Garu letters which some of the politicians attributed to you were just silly, not dangerous. Now I find that Charlie's brother, Albert, the late scientist, was an honorary member of a Roerich Society. Silly I grant these letters were but dangerous too if a candidate for vice president was silly enough to write them and so cowardly and dishonest as to refuse to acknowledge the spiritual beliefs which the letters reflected. A man of courage, and I mean particularly the moral and spiritual courage which your claqué attributes to you, might have acknowledged or denied the letters.

I certainly have you dead to rights where you organized an expedition to Mongolia for Roerich, the Guru, who wasn't even an American citizen, paid for by us taxpayers, ostensibly to hunt for grass seed. You can't wiggle off that hook, Wallace. And, by the way, you never published an official report on this expedition. Why not? Why didn't you ever have the marauder to make public reparation to the noted American botanist, Knowles Ryerson, now assistant dean of the College of Agriculture, of the University of California, whom you dismissed from the position of chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Department of Agriculture, and Macmillan and Sievers, whom you subordinated to your oriental friend on the expedition, and, finally, reprimanded and recalled?

They were right all the time and you were wrong. You weren't much of a man about that.

The crooked New Deal fought to keep your name out of the income tax case against your old friend, Roerich, after you had repudiated him, but didn't quite succeed.

At one point Horch testified, "I do know that Wallace gave Roerich $45,000 to invest in some co-operative bank."

A letter was handed to him and Horch said: "I do not know what 'G' stands for in this letter."

On a fine technicality, the letter was excluded, but your friends couldn't quite keep your name out, Herbert Plaut, Roerich's lawyer, said he intended to prove that "G" in this letter meant you, Henry Wallace, in the secret name of "Galahad" or "Galahad" by which you were known to the cult. The New Deal didn't take the dare.

Never mind the chickens and the strawberries, Wallace. Answer the questions. If you don't I will.

Typographical Union Seems to Have Opposite Advice From That Given Employers on Taft-Hartley Rules

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 27—Legal advice sometimes can prove costly to the man who wants his lawyer to tell him it is all right to do the things he wants to do even though the law seems to forbid it.

The International Typographical Union must have had some legal advice of its own before it announced that it would forbid its local unions to sign contracts as provided under the Taft-Hartley act. It appears that just the opposite advice has been given to the employing printers of the country.

Gerard D. Reilly, formerly the special counsel for the Senate labor committee and the man credited with writing the major provisions of the new labor law, has written a memorandum for the Printing Industry of America, Inc., which deals among other things, with the idea that "conditions of employment" will be forced on employers without written contracts. Mr. Reilly writes:

"Some unions have indicated that they will avoid the impact of the act by avoiding written contracts. Instead they propose to reach an agreement with management pursuant to which both parties will understand that no non-union men are to be employed or retained. While the new act does not make such informal understandings illegal per se, an employer runs the eventual risk of being cited for an 'unfair labor practice' if he enters into such an arrangement."

"If a non-union man is denied employment or discharged under such circumstances, an employer would have no defense whatsoever to an 'unfair labor practice' complaint and the board could order him to reinstate the aggrieved employee with back pay. Nor would it be a defense that such discrimination was made pursuant to a strike or threat of strike. Unions are likewise prohibited from engaging in such compulsion with respect to employees not covered by union shop agreements made in compliance with the new law."

At the recent I.T.U. convention, there were adopted rules declaring that printers who do not obey their union officers or local unions which are recalcitrant can be expelled. Mr. Reilly says on this point:

"If an employer has reason to believe that a man was refused membership in a union or was ousted from membership, on some ground other than his refusal or failure to pay the dues and initiation fees required uniformly of all members, the union shop agreement becomes inapplicable to such an employee. Therefore, if the employer discharges him upon the union's request, both the employer and the union engage in an 'unfair labor practice'."

On the subject of bargaining in good faith, Mr. Reilly makes this point:

"While the new act contains a definition of collective bargaining, it alters existing law in only one minor respect, viz., while bargaining in good faith is still required, the refusal to make a concession can no longer be deemed by the board a breach of this obligation. The most important addition to the law is that the act makes it the duty to bargain bilaterally, since it is now an 'unfair labor practice' for a union, if it is the 'certified or recognized representative, to fail to carry out its obligation to bargain."

The new act would afford some relief to an employer confronted with a union ultimatum of this sort for he could file an unfair labor practice charge if the union representatives insisted upon pulling a strike without listening to his arguments or counter-proposals.

Mr. Reilly was a Roosevelt appointee to the National Labor Relations Board, from which he resigned a year ago. He is looked upon as the leading authority on the Taft-Hartley Act. His writings indicate that the I.T.U. will be skating on thin ice if it tries to punish members who do not agree with their officers and if the union expels them and endeavors to get them fired from their jobs on the ground that they are not in good standing in their unions.

The points that have been overlooked by the I.T.U., primarily in connection with the new law, are at the Taft-Hartley law relate to the rights of the individual printers to file damage suits if they lose their union cards and for third parties injured by illegal work stoppages to file suits against both unions and employers. A mere understanding between the union and employer may not be illegal in itself but it may last only as long as it isn't challenged in the courts by some aggrieved person.

Anti-Communism Drive

The American Legion, which opens its annual convention August 28 in New York city, is about to launch a campaign which may spearhead the greatest counter-revolution in our history.

Announced plans are to raise and spend during the coming year $13,000,000 informing American citizens about the danger of the Communist fifth column and ideology among us. It is expected that 120,000,000 pieces of literature will be distributed by Legion posts during the year. Ten million families are to receive a monthly brochure denouncing American governments, citizenship rights and privileges and exposing the Communist attack on this way of life.

The seriousness of the Marxist movement inside our borders, aided and encouraged for years by the New Deal administration, has been underestimated by too few citizens. Millions of dollars have been poured annually into left propaganda. One organization alone boasts of spending $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 annually "educating" American people, and points to many millions worth of free education" from radio broadcasters and movie films.

The threat is far greater than the public appear to realize, thanks to the amazing deception of this movement which has gained momentum almost steadily for well over a century. In the year 1819 a French historian wrote, "If the Revolution were understood by the people today it would die tomorrow." The statement is still applicable. It is time some group of traditional Americans began matching the enormous stream of propaganda funds from the Left.

A congressman recently complained that the people themselves are forcing socialism on the government by repeatedly running to Washington for help, instead of helping themselves.

Socialized medicine, government subsidies for housing and farm crops, favoritism in loans to such groups as tax-free consumer co-operatives who have an advantage over private business, more T.V.A.s, more government interference with private business and private lives, such as price fixing and minimum wage fixing—these are current socialistic measures which find much spontaneous support among certain groups of people, many of whom would have no part of Communism or any other form of totalitarianism. They often do not understand that they are promoting totalitarianism.

Should Invade Campuses
The Marxists do understand it. How far the Legion's program will go toward explaining the socialism remains to be seen. If the fight develops punch, if it rips away the mask of deception and exposes the real nature of Communism and the activities of Com-unist leaders, the impact on the present administration and on 1948 elections will be considerable.

The mere threat of such a gigantic repudiation of Marxism may be enough to jolt the president and his cabinet into cleaning the Reds out of government offices.

It is to be hoped that the Legion will go systematically into the colleges this year, to clean up Marxist influence. A number of people, including this writer, have been urging this of the Legion, and two Los Angeles Republican groups recently adopted resolutions urging it.

It is true that some Legion posts have conducted programs or established sub-posts in some universities, but generally the campuses have been left to the Communist front, the American Veterans Committee. Many chapters of the A.V.C. are slowly dying, but some are very active, and the influence of this misguided and Communist dominated propaganda channel has been immeasurable.

Bulletin boards at the University of California at Los Angeles, Denver University, University of Colorado and scores of others were plastered with radical literature throughout the past year. Many Red speakers were engaged. Some varsity chapters, such as that at Denver University, did throw out leaders believed to hold Communist Party affiliation. But I have not heard of any appreciable change in the ideology of these groups, who now seem to think they are anti-Communist.

The bulletin boards continue to display radical literature. It is late but not too late for the Legion to sponsor discussion groups on every college campus, furnishing speakers and literature and exposing the inadequacy and viciousness of Marxism.

Married to E. J. Kunst

MRS. EMANUEL JACK KUNST

E. J. Kunst Marries Judith Newman, Sunday In Newburgh Synagogue

Miss Judith Newman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Newman of 119 Liberty street, Newburgh, was united in marriage to Emanuel Jack Kunst, son of Samuel Kunst of 12 Adams street, Sunday at 2 p. m. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi Leeman at Agudas Achim Synagogue, Newburgh.

William Johnston was at the organ and Mrs. Dorisanne Rapp sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Palms and flowers were used for decorations with baskets of flowers at the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a Skinners gown trimmed with seed pearls; a Spanish mantilla of rose point lace with veil and carried a Bible with orchid marker.

Miss Lillian Kunst, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, wore a blue taffeta gown. Bridesmaids, the Meses Dorene and Sheila Newman, sisters of the bride, wore rose taffeta gowns. All carried pink roses nosegays.

Mr. and Mrs. Fredman acted as best man. Ushers were Joseph Rosen, Lionel Gramer, Alvin Werbalowsky, Edwin Kalish of this city; Raymond Krieger and Jack Israel of Brooklyn.

A reception was held at the Agudas Achim Center with guests from Newburgh, Kingston, Albany, Brooklyn, Newark, Philadelphia, Rhode Island, Toronto, Canada, and Miami Beach. Ward Harrison provided music.

The bridal couple left for a motor trip to Cape Cod and New England. They will reside at 91 Wisner avenue, Newburgh.

The bride is a graduate of Newburgh Free Academy, Rider College and is commercial teacher at Cornwall-Hudson High School. Mr. Kunst, a graduate of Kingston High School, attended Rider College, and is affiliated with Newman's market. He served with the navy aboard the U.S.S. Lexington in the Pacific area.

Demonstrates Tractor Cutter Bar

Henry Wolfersheim, work superintendent of Eastern Tractor Corp., Kingston, shown demonstrating Gardena tractor with cutter bar attachment in the lot at the corner of Elmendorf street and Broadway. Looking on (left) James F. Carroll, general superintendent of the plant, and James Bernadi, local contractor. The bar attachment was designed in the engineering department of the local plant and represents a radical departure from the established principles in that type of machinery. The cutter bar can be attached to a 1 1/2 or 2 1/2 horse power tractor and is effective against heavy weeds and brush. Because of the engineering principles involved the vibration of the machine is reduced to a minimum. Too much vibration was the principal objection to the older types. "This new machine represents a radical departure from that type of cutter," Mr. Carroll said, adding that it was the first change in many years. A patent has been applied for and more than 5,000 orders already have been received. Local production rate is 125 per week. (Freeman Photo)

La Guardias Start Building Coolers On 9-W Location

After an unsuccessful attempt to locate a warehouse in Kingston, the newly-organized firm of LaGuardia & Sons, Inc., former operators of LaGuardia & Son Importing Co., of 616 Broadway, has broken ground on a new location two miles north of Kingston on Route 9-W where a one story building will be erected, it was learned today.

The new building will be located near Frank Ball's golf range on 9-W and will contain an office and refrigerator coolers.

The announcement was made by Savio LaGuardia, who also reported that the contract for the work on the new building had been awarded to the Jolee Contracting Company of Rosendale, supervised by Joseph Esposito of Sportsman's Park, Rosendale.

It also was revealed that Edward LaGuardia, younger son and brother of Lawrence and Savio LaGuardia, who formerly was employed as personnel manager of the Fact-Finders Associate, Inc., of New York city, a research firm, would become secretary-treasurer of the new firm.

Mr. LaGuardia joined the New York concern in 1944 after leaving New York University, and has been in that employ ever since.

Trowbridge Farm Gives Up Skeleton In Napanoch Today

The remains of a human skeleton found today on the D. B. Trowbridge farm at Liberty Hill, Napanoch, were taken to the Kingston Laboratory for further examination, the sheriff's office reported.

Deputy Sheriff Arthur Smith, County Identification Officer Leonard Belmont and Coroner Arthur C. Chipp were called to the scene and after examination said it was a human skeleton believed to be quite old.

The skeleton was uncovered during an excavation at the Trowbridge farm which is known in the Napanoch area as the Hornbeck estate. It was acquired by D. B. Trowbridge from Chandler Young.

No New Firemen
No appointments to the fire department were made during the regular meeting of the fire commissioners Tuesday evening. Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today. No vacancies exist in the department at this time, it was learned. Only routine business was discussed at the meeting last night, Chief Murphy announced.

Reports Collision
Andrew Perry reported to the police about 7:50 this morning that his car had been in collision with a mail truck operated by William Fox at Hasbrouck avenue and the Strand. No further information concerning the accident was reported to the police.

Price-Tags Go Up On Autos; Buyers Are Wondering

Detroit, Aug. 27 (AP)—With $45 to more than $225 added to the price-tags of new passenger cars manufactured throughout the auto industry, producers indicated today that the line would hold for the rest of the year.

But prospective buyers, cycling the price boosts announced yesterday by the Ford Motor Co., and Studebaker Corp., to complete the round of increases, wondered if the many changes contemplated for 1948 models would send the cost of their new cars still higher.

Studebaker, last of the makers to mark up prices, announced from South Bend, Ind., last night that $50 to $115 would be added to its car and truck models.

The action followed by only a few hours a Ford announcement of increases ranging from $86 to $229 on Lincoln, Mercury and so-called "luxury" models. Sunday the Ford concern, which earlier in the year had cut its prices, announced boosts of $62 to $90 on Ford standard models.

Other recent price hikes—all attributed to increased manufacturing and materials costs—include: Chevrolet—$57 to $70 on standard models; $170 on station wagons.

Plymouth—$75 to $85 on popular models. $130 on "special deluxe" station wagon.

Hudson—$45 to $95; Cadillac—$66 to $168; Packard—$92 to $200.

Industry observers indicated that extensive re-tooling planned for 1948 models probably would run into millions of dollars and might mean further advances in retail prices next year.

'Carnival of Champions' With Barney Ross at Stadium Tonight

Ring Great To Referee

BULLETIN: B'nai B'rith officials announced at noon today that the amateur boxing show scheduled for municipal stadium tonight will be transferred to the municipal auditorium, if it rains.

Highlighted by the personal appearance of Barney Ross as guest referee, B'nai B'rith's long awaited "Carnival of Champions" amateur boxing show will be held at municipal stadium tonight. First contest is scheduled for 9 p. m.

Upwards of 4,000 cauliflower addicts are expected to jam the uptown ball park for the first outdoor boxing show of the season.

Ross, one of the all-time boxing greats, who held three crowns simultaneously, will referee a couple of the top bouts. A magnetic boxoffice attraction in his heyday, Ross continues to attract huge crowds in the role of referee and for personal appearances.

The ex-Marine who compiled a distinguished record in World War II is currently affiliated with the Milton Blackstone enterprises in Newburgh.

Simpson Featured
Headlining the seven-bout card, all five rounds, are two satellites in the amateur boxing world—Schenectady's Tony Barone, and Paul Simpson, the lethal punching Cleveland light heavyweight.

Barone tackled Jimmy Beau, of Poughkeepsie, former champion of North Carolina, who is touted as one of the finest in the metropolitan area. Beau backers came to town early today loaded with money to wager on their man to score a knockout.

Simpson has a rugged assignment against Phil Alston, New Jersey 180-pounder, who claims victories over Johnny Stevens, who extended Simpson in his last start and Coley Wallace, sensational N.Y.U. heavyweight.

The program itself reads like a "Who's Who" of the amateur boxing world. In addition to Simpson and Barone, the overflow crowd will see Chuck Wilkerson, flashy 118-pounder from Cleveland; George Kolarick, a solid punching 150-pounder; Harold Morton, of Albany; Herbie Ellison, flashy New Yorker; Joe Wahls, highly regarded Poughkeepsie prospect; and a flock of other talented performers.

Five Rounds
Tony Barone, Schenectady vs. Jimmy Beau, of Poughkeepsie, 145 pounds.
Paul Simpson, Cleveland, vs. Phil Alston, New Jersey, 175 pounds.

Chuck Wilkerson, Cleveland, vs. Mike Diaz, New York, 118 pounds.
George Kolarick, Cleveland, vs. Herbie Ellison, New York, 150 pounds.

Al Williams, Poughkeepsie, vs. Elbert Carey, Newburgh, 155 pounds.
Johnny Gibson, Albany, vs. Larry Johnson, New York, 145 pounds.

Harold Morton, Albany, vs. Joe Wahls, Poughkeepsie, 135 pounds.

Independents Meet Tuesday

Members of the Independent Bowling League will hold their first meeting of the season on Tuesday, September 2 at 8 o'clock at the Central Recreation alleys. All bowlers are requested to attend.

Boulevard's Trip Stamford, 3 to 2

Boulevard Gulf nosed out Stamford, 3 to 2, behind the six-hit pitching of Owen Ten Broeck Sunday at the mountain town diamond.

Boulevard made eight hits off Gunther and Tompkins, including Mike Rlenzo's triple and doubles by George Glaser and Joe Mahar. Ten Broeck fanned five. The Gulf clinched the game with a pair of tallies in the third and on in the fourth.

City League Lauds Game

The City Baseball League canceled its scheduled contest last night in order to make way for the game between the Hudson Valley Juniors and the Brooklyn Dodgers at municipal stadium.

Warren F. Smith, City League president, in announcing the cancellation, said in a letter to Charles J. Tiano, president of the Kingston Athletic Association, sponsors of the game, that he extended best wishes for the success of the venture.

The letter follows:

Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Charlie:
In support of the K.A.A.'s Annual Baseball Classic between the Brooklyn Dodgers Juniors and the Hudson Valley All Stars, the Kingston City Baseball League is cancelling its game for Tuesday night, August 26, 1947.

We congratulate the K.A.A. in its fine efforts to promote sports for the "Youth of Kingston" and will back the players chosen from the City League together with those other capable ball players who have been chosen outside the city to participate in your second annual game.

With best wishes for the success of the event and for the purposes to which the proceeds will be used, I am

Very truly yours,
WARREN F. SMITH
President

Jackie Watzka Receives "Best Player" Citation

Jackie Watzka, fireballing East Kingston righthander, was voted the "outstanding player" with the Hudson Valley Juniors in last night's "junior classic" at municipal stadium.

Watzka pitched two scoreless innings, got one of the five hits by his club and drove in a run. He will receive a table model radio offered by M. Reina, local G.E. dealer.

A similar award was won by Bobby Newhard, of Highland Falls, in the 1946 game. Newhard is now a member of the Kingston Dodgers in the North Atlantic League.

Other awards:
Best pitcher—Bill McCarthy, Highland. Pitched three innings, permitted two runs, one tainted.
Best offensive player—Allan Vogt, popular City League star, who had a perfect night at bat with "2 for 2" and played a fine game at first base.

Best defensive player—For the second year this honor went to a second baseman, Eddie Rathbun, of Poughkeepsie. Handled seven chances flawlessly and made spectacular steps on other chances that were scored as base hits.

Members of the Judges Committee were Warren Smith, Eddie Murphy, Coach G. Warren Kias, Maurice McGarry and Carl "Dutch" Glaser.

Winners Score Five in Fifth; Crowd of 3,000 Sees Contest

The Brooklyn-Long Island scholastic baseball aces who battle "the world" every year again proved themselves superior to this part of the globe, when they defeated the Hudson Valley Juniors, 10 to 4, in the second renewal of the annual "junior baseball classic" last night before 3,000 cheering fans at municipal stadium.

Despite mid-afternoon rains and the constant threat of continued precipitation, a crowd larger than the 1946 turnout jammed municipal stadium to witness the colorful classic sponsored by the Kingston Athletic Association.

Experience Prevails
Once again superior experience and poise was the deciding factor. One disastrous inning—the fifth when the Brooklyn team scored five times—marred an otherwise fast and interesting ball game.

"Turk" Karam's hand picked brigade pounded out 15 hits, including a triple and two home runs to wrap up their second straight victory of the series. The score last year was 10 to 5.

Valley Scores First
After a wild pitch had given the Hudson valley squad a 1-0 lead in the first, the Brooklyns went ahead 2-1 in the third on Larry Daum's homer to left field and a steal of home by "Geler" with Lefty Joe Jordan pitching.

The visitors staged a five run rally in the fifth, featured by Palumba's "homer" with two aboard. It was an ordinary well-hit line drive that should have been caught but outfielder Eddie Passante, of Highland, misjudged it and the ball rolled to the embankment in right field.

Daum's homer was a line drive close to the left field foul line by a left handed batter and by fast running, he beat the relay to the plate by several yards.

Bill Tierney doubled in a Hudson valley marker in the seventh and a streak of wildness by pitcher Rutter in the eighth accounted for two more local tallies. Karam had to call on his ace, Bill Sandstrom, to put out the fire. Jackie Watzka, singled in the third marker.

Although the Brooklyn pitchers permitted only five hits, the Hudson valley squad had several gorgeous scoring opportunities in the first three innings but failed to get the needed hit.

Pre-Game Ceremonies
In the short, pre-game ceremonies, President Charles J. Tiano, of the Kingston Athletic Association, thanked the large crowd for supporting the annual K.A.A. classic and congratulated the young players who were selected for the contest.

Thomas M. "Tommy" Davitt, past president of the K.A.A., presented several gifts to Eddie McCarthy, prominent Kingston High School sprinter for his outstanding accomplishments as a half miler. The K.A.A. presented him with a new track suit. Dick McCarthy, WKNY sportscenter, handled the remainder of the show and introduced the individual members of the Hudson valley squad.

Manager Bernard A. "Bud" Culliton used every player on the 20-man squad in keeping with the spirit of the game. Bill McCarthy, of Highland was the starting pitcher and went three innings. Clark Mains, Lefty Joe Jordan and Jackie Watzka each worked two. Three catchers—Bill Olen, Bill Glaser of Kingston and "Jake" Charter, of Poughkeepsie, worked behind the plate.

Voiselle's Pitching Spurs Boston Hopes to Overcome Brooks, Cards

By GAIL FOWLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The talk in the National League, day by day, is about Brooklyn and St. Louis, but Beantown followers of the third place Boston Braves haven't given up hope yet.

Manager Billy Southworth of the Braves is squeezing his material to the limit. He has his left-hand hitting lineup, and his right-hand crew, and he has two top-notch pitchers in Johnny Sain and Lefty Warren Spahn.

"But he hasn't enough pitchers," Brave detractors contend, and for a while this week it looked that way as the St. Louis Cardinals walked Sain and Spahn on successive days.

Voiselle Cliche
But last night Southworth countered with big Bill Voiselle, the fugitive from the New York Giants who didn't like the climate of the Polo Grounds and who was pleased to be traded away from Mel Ott to the Braves in exchange for Moe Cooper.

Voiselle had only won one and lost four with the Giants, but he's won five and lost three since then with the Braves, his latest being the first time he threw his three at the Cardinals last night as Boston won, 5-1.

I saved the Braves from a Cardinal whitewash in the three game set, and it also cost the Cards a chance to make up valuable ground in their pursuit of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bankhead Debuts
Earlier the Dodgers, hard-pressed for pitchers, saw three of them—including Dan Bankhead—being thrown in the majors, take a 20-hit mauling from the seventh place Pittsburgh Pirates, who collected a 16-3 victory.

The big right-hander was treated cavalierly on the mound, but in his first trip to a big league plate, he cracked a two-run homer in the fifth inning, and his 41st and 42nd home runs of the campaign, to go four games and two days ahead of Babe Ruth's 1927 record when the Bambino collected his big 60.

Marchiondo Stars
In the American League Philadelphia Athletics had a perfect game in hand against the Cleveland Indians for seven innings, then the Indians tied the count at 1-1.

Marchiondo took charge not only with his pitching arm but with his bat in the 12th when his long double drove in Peter Suder with the winning run, as he gathered the prolonged 2-1 decision.

The American League leading New York Yankees trailed most of the game and tied it up at 3-3 in the ninth only to have the St. Louis Browns come back to take it in their half, 4-3.

The Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers traded third place during the afternoon, the Tigers leading the Sox for a 12-1 victory in the first game of a doubleheader for a temporary advantage, but Tex Hughson threw a four-hitter at them in the after-piece as the Red Sox avenged themselves with a 9-1 triumph to regain the second perch.

The Washington Senators won the remaining game on yesterday's slate, 4-3, from Chicago White Sox pitcher Eddie Lopat. Lopat got two singles and a double—one third of his team's output—but Walter Masterson's nine-hit performance was too much to overcome.

The Colonial Baseball League, which had plenty of trouble with the weather when it opened its first season last May, was completely rained out last night for the first time in many weeks.

With only two more weeks to go, another postponement more or less means little to the three first place teams, Waterbury, Poughkeepsie and Stamford, who appear to have play-off berths assured, but the three bottom clubs, only one of which can get into the play-offs, are engaged in a ding-dong battle for fourth place.

Series to Resume Tonight

Weather permitting the second game of the five-game Shaughnessy playoff finals between the Hofbrau and Morgan's Restaurant will be played at the Athletic Field today at 6:15 p. m.

Hofbrau won the opener, 4 to 0, behind the sensational three-hit twirling of Lefty Bill Kwinnick.

City League officials pointed out last night that the finals are decided on a best three out of five basis and not two out of three, as previously reported.

Bill Thomas or Charlie Neff is expected to pitch for Morgan's, while Artie Barnes is the Hofbrau choice.

(By The Associated Press)

The Colonial Baseball League, which had plenty of trouble with the weather when it opened its first season last May, was completely rained out last night for the first time in many weeks.

With only two more weeks to go, another postponement more or less means little to the three first place teams, Waterbury, Poughkeepsie and Stamford, who appear to have play-off berths assured, but the three bottom clubs, only one of which can get into the play-offs, are engaged in a ding-dong battle for fourth place.

Kingston Hurlers Dominate North Atlantic Statistics Hits Nags

Kingston hurlers dominate the latest pitching statistics in the North Atlantic League, with Alton Gilbert and Ted Seddon in the top five.

Seddon leads the circuit in percentage with 12 wins and 3 losses for .800, while Gilbert has won 15 and lost five for .750. "Dangerous Dan" Bennett is credited with 6 wins and 2 defeats.

Gilbert is only one victory behind Joe Seber, Stroudsburg workhorse, who leads the circuit with 16 wins.

Seber, who qualified for the N.A.L.'s iron man with most innings pitched, 202; most strikeouts, 211 in 202 frames; most complete games, 20 and victories with 16.

Hank Neighbors, who is on the disabled list for the remainder of the season, left a 10 and 3 record behind him. Bob Curtis, of Nazareth, is among the leaders with a 14-6 mark. Curtis also has the most shutouts, 4, while Seber's 2.25 E.R.A. is the tops.

Dodgers Lose to Nazareth, 4-0 Lead Is Reduced to 6 1/2 Games

Eddie "Windy" Wincek, a late-season pitching find of the Nazareth Tigers, shut out the Kingston Dodgers 3-0, on four hits last night in Nazareth, as the Dodgers had another full game sliced off their lead.

Kingston's first place margin is now 6 1/2 games over the Carbondale Pioneer Blues, who continued their winning ways by knocking off the hapless Nyack Rocks.

The Dodgers' losing streak was extended to three straight games.

Relief Stint Wins for Birds

Rowland, Burt took over the mound after three previous Mahanoy City hurlers had been pounded last night and allowed only three hits in six innings to defeat the Peckskill Highlanders, 11-10, in a North Atlantic League contest.

Pitcher George Heller of Carbondale pitched a six-hit shutout over Nyack, 6 to 0, as the Pioneer Blues reduced the Kingston Dodgers lead to 6 1/2 games. A four-hit shutout was turned in by "Windy" Wincek of Nazareth in defeating the league leading Dodgers.

A scheduled game between Bloomingdale and Stroudsburg was postponed because of rain.

Arnold Contrasts Houses of Today With Older Homes

Outstanding among contrasts between the house of 15 or 20 years ago and that of today is the ratio of rooms to conveniences, Edward R. Arnold, local plumbing inspector, said today.

The family of today prefers comfort and conveniences to the homes of many and large rooms of years ago, the inspector stressed.

"Thousands of the older houses that line the city streets are in cities and suburbs have excess capacity, according to present-day standards, he continued. Because they are soundly built and well-located few are ready to be scrapped.

Mr. Arnold says the sensible thing to do is to convert the rooms that are not needed into usable space.

Most often it is an extra bathroom or two that is urgently required in the older houses.

There are various spaces that may be successfully converted into bathrooms. Sometimes an unusual hall end or a large clothes closet will be ample in size to accommodate the necessary plumbing fixtures.

Often if there is not room for a tub, a shower stall will suffice and will meet with enthusiastic approval of the younger generation.

Small bedrooms, too, may be converted into bathrooms. Many of the older houses have huge bedrooms with room to spare and space enough for a bathroom.

Clothes closets may be partitioned off and still leave a sizable bedroom.

Then, too, Mr. Arnold says that sometimes an entire bedroom can be converted into a combination bathroom and dressing room, with an ingenious use of space for wardrobes and closets.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

How Opening Lead Spots High Cards

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

America's Card Authority

Written for N.E.A. Service

Is better bridge played in the east or in the west? It is true that the east or the west is in the east, but I think that this question will be decided within the next year or two by competition between the two sections.

A large group of eastern players went out to California last year, and another delegation is planning to attend the tournament to be held November 5th to 9th, inclusive, at the Hotel Del Coronado, Coronado, Calif.

Today's hand came up at Coronado last year. The play is somewhat involved, and a good player might "blow" the hand. South wins the opening lead with the ace of clubs, takes three rounds of trumps, then takes the diamond finesse. East wins and shifts to a heart, and down goes declarer.

losing two hearts, a diamond and a club.

The correct line of play is to win the first trick with the ace of clubs, take three rounds of trumps, winning the third round in the closed hand, then lead the five of clubs. The opening lead of the club king has marked West with the queen. West has to win this trick and he shifts to a diamond. Declarer should go right up with dummy's ace, discard his seven of diamonds on the jack of clubs, then lead the queen of diamonds. If East does not cover, West discards a heart, because if West wins the diamond trick, there is no return he can make that will endanger the contract. If East covers the diamond, South trumps, and the jack and ten of diamonds provide discards for two of the hearts. Thus at most declarer loses two hearts and a club.

Jump Prevented New York, Aug. 27 (AP)—John Louis Galt, 32, years old, of 141 Vernon avenue, Rockville Center, L. I., was removed to Bellevue Hospital for mental examination early this morning after he was prevented from jumping off the roof of the 17-story Goodhue apartments at 20 East 35th street, police of the East 35th street station reported. Police said he began to talk about an unsuccessful love affair.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, Aug. 26—A recent improvement, noticed by travelers between Ellenville and Kingston, is the restoration of the little triangular garden at the junction of Route 209 and the old road into Napanoch, near the bridge. Initiated by the Shawangunk Garden Club several years ago, it has not received too much attention for some time and had grown pretty much "on its own."

In view of the overcrowded condition at the Veterans Memorial Hospital for some time past, announcement by Robert V. Stapleton, chairman of the board of directors, that the contemplated addition to the building and facilities would get under way "as soon as circumstances permit," is of interest.

Mr. Stapleton stated that at the meeting of directors Monday night plans and specifications for the new building, drawn by Architect George Lowe of Kingston, had been approved, and that it is planned to advertise for bids in the near future. Beside care was given to 101 patients in the 17-bed hospital during July. Twenty babies were born in the hospital during the month and X-rays or other diagnostic service was rendered to 116 outpatients.

The Beaver Dam pond, near Grahamsville, which was stocked with bass a few years ago, is furnishing some good sport for the bass fishermen, according to reports. George E. Heroy of the Beaver Dam Club recently landed two fine fish, one weighing 7½ pounds and the other 5½ pounds.

At the same time pickerel fishing, for which the pond was noted for many years, is said to be not too good since the voracious bass got well established.

It is stated that Monday marked the anniversary of the strike against the Ulster Knife Co., a year ago. Two pickets have been on duty, but it is said may not continue if unemployment compensation they have been receiving is discontinued.

Miss Nellie Hobson has been elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Church. Other officers are Mrs. Frank J. Campbell and Mrs. Annie Terwilliger, vice-presidents; Mrs. John Unverzagt, secretary; Mrs. Ivie Eiling, treasurer; Mrs. Helen Traphagen and Mrs. Nellie Booth, publicity officers; Mrs. A. E. Hilliard, publicity.

Jack Brantman and his brother-in-law, William Jovick, of Brooklyn, have purchased from Mrs. Anna E. Richards the grocery business at the "Five Points" and will continue it under the name of the West End Market. Mrs. Richards purchased the business about a year ago from David Inaway. The late Otto Johnson conducted the business for a number of years. It has had numerous owners and dates back to the early days. For many years it was owned and run by Jesse Low, whose daughter, Miss Corn Low, occupies the old homestead property directly across the street.

The store then was listed as No. 1 Canal street, but today is designated as No. 14.

Miss Kathryn Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albro H. Brown of Lackawack, a graduate of the Ellenville High School, will enter Western College for Women, Oxford, Ohio, September 15.

Dr. and Mrs. Leo H. Karow have moved into apartments formerly occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Max Cooper, in the Balotin house on Liberty street.

Gerald Walker of New York is spending a vacation at the Wayside Inn and visiting his sister, Miss Gladys Decker.

Donald Twine of the maritime service has returned from a trip to Norway and is spending six weeks with his wife and daughter at the home of Mrs. Twine's mother, Mrs. Frank B. Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Hoonbeek have returned home after spending the summer at Spring Lake, N. J.

Attorney and Mrs. H. Westlake Coons have been spending a 10-day vacation at Portland, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kaufman have purchased a home property in the new Cohen development in the southeastern part of the village. Mr. Kaufman is science teacher at the Ellenville High School.

Mr. and Mrs. David S. Rothberg, who have finished summer courses at the graduate school, Ithaca College, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Weiner and son, are spending their vacations at the home of Mrs. Harry Goldin, mother of Mrs. Rothenberg and Mrs. Weiner.

Miss Dorothy Ten-Bush and Miss Alma Rosenkrantz, with a friend, have been touring the New England states for a week.

Andrew McConnell, who with Mrs. McConnell, went to Big Spring, Tex., to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Brackley, has returned home. Mrs. McConnell expects to return next month.

Miss Eleanor Clancy of the telephone company office has been spending a week with friends in Whittingham, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Lonstein and son have been spending a week at Clifton, in the Thousand Islands, enjoying the fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Rowan have been spending a week on Cape Cod.

Among recent guests at the Wayside Inn was Mrs. Frank Cotter, formerly Miss Annie Ernhout of Leurenkill. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. H. Bendlara of Larchmont.

Hasbrouck B. Miller of Gloversville, who has just returned from a year of study at Lausanne, Switzerland, has been visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Charles F. Taylor.

Mrs. William B. Martin and son, Bill, of Marlborough, have been spending a week with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert A. McCartney.

Mrs. Elmer Robinson returned home Wednesday after spending three weeks at the Albany City hospital and at the home of her son, Warren E. Robinson.

LEIBHARDT

Leibhardt, Aug. 26—Ben Pollack returned home last week from the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Schrieberman of New York, former residents, visited relatives at the Pollack home and other friends, last week.

Henry Quick was a recent caller on his cousins at the Gorsline and Markle homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chrisey, their daughter and son of Albany, are spending this week at the home Mr. Chrisey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Chrisey, of Rochester Center.

Mrs. Gus Lindgren and daughter, Holly, are visiting friends in New York.

Mrs. Edna Kohan of New Jersey spent last week with her aunt, Mrs. Lena Lypha.

Mrs. Joseph Schrieberman left Sunday for her home in New York after spending two weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ben Pollack.

Lions Get Historic Background From Mormon Elder

Elder A. Henry Smith, a missionary of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, more commonly known today as the Mormon Church, addressed members of the Kingston Lions Club at their regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel yesterday afternoon giving a brief but concise historical background of the Mormon religion.

Elder Smith, who has been laboring in this area for the past eight months, was accompanied by Elder Maurice Anderson, another youthful missionary, who was assigned to assist him two months ago.

The number of Mormons professing that religion today, according to Elder Smith, totals one million. The name "Mormon" was attributed to these people as a sort of nickname, he said just as the word "Christian" was given the early followers of Christ.

Mormons derived this name due to the fact that they believe in the Book of Mormons as the word of God, as companion scriptures to the Holy Bible.

Approximately 4,000 young men and women are laboring in the vineyard of the Lord, Elder Smith explained, working as missionaries throughout the world and giving people the true conception of the Mormon religion.

One Coat Magic—
for FURNITURE—WALLS—WOODWORK

Yes, Du Pont "Duco" is back... It's the "one coat magic" enamel that flows on and levels itself... drying without brush marks. It's fun and exciting to use, as dull, dingy surfaces suddenly become alive with sparkling color. No longer just gloomy kitchen walls, woodwork and furniture, but a cheerful, happy room in which the best hours of every day are spent. Du Pont "Duco" dries quickly to a tough, elastic finish that's as easy to wash as a china teacup. And long years of laboratory testing now give you an enamel that wears and wears. Stop in today and let us show you the assortment of delightful colors offered in Du Pont "Duco."

was organized in Fayette, Seneca county, New York state, on April 6, 1830. From that time until the large colony of faithful Mormons settled in Utah, the early Mormon pioneers, combatted every obstacle and all persecutions in efforts to spread out and establish self-centered Mormon communities.

When the Mormon leadership was taken over by the famed Brigham-Young in 1844, the thousands of faithful trekked across the mountains and prairies from central United States to Utah where they settled down. It was around this time that polygamy started among the Mormons.

Polygamy Abandoned
However, Elder Smith ventured to emphasize, because of the mistaken of a few people the entire Mormon population was severely criticized and persecuted. Never in the history of the Mormon religion had more than three per cent of the Mormons ever had more than one wife, he added. And this, he said, had to be proven. The practice of polygamy, which at that time was considered a highly moral practice among the Mormons, has not been in existence since 1890.

Today, the statutes and regulations prescribed by the Mormon Church compel all the faithful to adhere strictly to the laws of that church, and anyone transgressing those or civil laws of the land is ipso facto excommunicated from the church.

The Mormons, Elder Smith went on, have been highly instrumental in establishing the West and have contributed in no small degree to its growth and development. This is due to the mode of life followed by these people.

Do Not Indulge
The greater majority of the Mormons are intelligent and their health standard is the highest in the world. They are taught not to smoke or drink any alcohol beverages, as this is harmful to their physical well-being. Even coffee and tea are taboo, as the effects of these liquids are considered by them more harmful than beneficial.

Then Elder Smith went on to say that the financial and material successes of the Mormons, as well as their spiritual status, is all due to the fact that they set a worthy example by self-representation and by manifesting a profound faith in God.

Prior to the elder's talk, Lions President Walter Donnaruma introduced a number of guests, among whom were the Brooklyn boys' baseball squad with Mentor Turk Karam who played against the Kingston All Stars last night.

Certificates Filed
David L. Var Wagenen of 115 Madison avenue, Kingston, and Clarence J. Frazer of Port Ewen have filed a certificate with the county clerk stating they are doing business at 89-571 Albany avenue, Kingston, under the name and style of Van's Service Center.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed by Clintondale Cold Storage, Inc., a corporation formed to carry on a general cold storage business. The corporation starts business with 200 shares of $10 par common stock. Principal place of business is in New Paltz and the corporation is authorized to have four directors. Directors named to serve until the first annual election are Morris and Herbert Ackerman of R. D., New Paltz and Joseph and Ruth Rogot of 1060 Sherman avenue, New York city.
